

Last update on 2021-12-03

TERMS OF USE OF THE MICROSCOPE PLATFORM

Credits

- Publication director: David Vallenet
- Editors: All permanent or contractual members of the LABGeM team
- Development, technical support and server management: LABGeM team

By browsing this web site, you acknowledge and accept its general terms of use described below.

Personal data

Please see our privacy notice about what type of personal data is collected and how to exercise your rights.

Content

Data access can be public (by default under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License) or limited to registered users identified by a login and a password.

The different types of MicroScope services are described here. Detailed terms of use are described in the MicroScope charter.

Hyperlinks

The web site might contain hyperlinks to external web sites. The editor does not take responsibility of the content of these web site.

Provision of hyperlinks by third parties to pages or documents available on MicroScope servers is authorized as long as the links are not contrary to the interests of MicroScope and if the third party guarantees that it will be possible for the user to identify MicroScope as the origin of the document in the event of deep linking, framing or insertion via links.

Modifications

The editor might change the terms of use and user's rights without prior warning.